

Oregon Botanical Artists - meeting notes from Saturday May 11, 2013

Location: PNCA

Above, Janene Walky shared this spread on painting lilacs from Adelene Fletcher's book, "The Watercolor Flower Painter's A to Z. Looks like a great resource and features a fresh, loose style of painting. Below left, Janene at PNCA, and right, the catalog from the recent SBA show in London.

We met for the first time at PNCA - thanks to Illustration Dept. Chairman, Martin French, we'll have use of the classroom for our monthly 2nd-Saturday meetings at least through the end of the summer. Our time was spent catching up with Janene about her recent trip to London to receive her certificate in Botanical Art. (Congratulations, Janene!) And with discussions ranging from techniques we use to get proper perspective in our drawings and paintings to suggestions for destinations and activities for upcoming meetings, and details about the plant species collected in this area by David Douglas in the early 1800's.
